57-Day-Old L&N Strike Nears End

No Change In Phone Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 57-day-old Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike, one of the longest walkouts in rail history, will end Wednesday morning with unresolved issues to be decided by a neutral referee.

Negotiators, dogtired from almost continuous day and night bargaining over the weekend, agreed on the settlement plan Monday morning. Documents signed just before noon called for rail traffic to resume Wednesday on the L&N and four allied carriers which also have been crippled by the strike.

However, L&N's headquarters in Louisville, Ky., said the line's passenger service will not resume until next Monday.

W. Gavin Whitsett, assistant to the vice president in charge of traffic, explained that all cars with the exception of those in Louisville must undergo full inspection and service before returning to operation.

In another violence ridden strike, involving Southern telephone service mediators reported no change. The CIO Communications Workers of America have walked out in a contract dispute with the Southern Bell Telephone Co. in nine states.

The L&N walkout has been marked by shootings of strikers and nonstrikers, and by train and bridge explosions. One striker was killed. Each side had accused the other of blame for violence.

The L&N and striking unions were given until 10 a.m. Tuesday to choose the referee or arbitrator. If they have not then agreed, the selection will be made by the National Mediation Board, the government agency which handled the prolonged negotiations.

Beginning Thursday morning, the referee will confer here with both sides, get their positions on remaining issues, then try within a week to hand down a ruling. Both sides agreed in advance to accept it.

The referee will have many problems checked to him but the main one—the point over which the strike started last March 14—is the health insurance proposal of the striking nonoperating unions.

Avery Retires; Barr Takes Over Reins At Ward's

CHICAGO (AP)—The reins of Montgomery Ward & Co., tightly held for 24 years by Sewell L. Avery, Monday passed into the hands of John A. Barr.

Victorious over Louis E. Wolfson in a proxy battle last month, Avery, 61, resigned as chairman at a special meeting of Ward's directors. The directors promptly named Barr, 47, to take Avery's place.

Barr has been with the nation's second largest mail order house since 1932 and he believes its prospects are brilliant. "Ward's future is almost unmatched," Barr recently said.

"One reason is our very sound financial position, which gives us an important tool to realize the potentialities in the field of retail distribution."

In the managerial realignment Edmund A. Krider, 42, the president, resigned. He pledged Barr "my full support", but added he would not continue, as a director and "my only plans are to take a little vacation."

In New York Wolfson issued a statement in which he said Barr would have to be judged on his actions as Avery's successor. Wolfson claimed Krider's resignation "is the first fulfillment of the Wolfson program."

Avery will remain as a director, but his action in resigning as chairman brought to an end an active, spectacular and sometimes stormy business career in Chicago dating back to 1901. It was in that year that he joined United States Gypsum Co.

US Plans Underwater Atomic Blast Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will explode an atomic device in the Pacific Ocean within the next few days to test new defenses against submarines.

A brief Defense Department announcement said the underwater blast will take place several hundred miles off the West Coast in an area "completely clear of fishing grounds and shipping lanes."

It did not pinpoint the spot, nor did it give the exact time.

There will be no hazard to inhabitants of the mainland or any islands in the Eastern Pacific, the announcement said.

The test was organized by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission with the assistance of preliminary studies made by the Scripps Institute of Oceanography.

There was no mention of observers, foreign or domestic, in the announcement, and presumably members of the American press will not be permitted to witness the explosion.

Since the Pentagon said the test is designed to strengthen defenses against submarine attack, it is probable that obsolete submarines will be used as underwater targets. Some surface craft also may be anchored in the blast area to measure the effects of the explosion, although the announcement did not touch on this.

It said a "small yield nuclear device" would be used. The shot will be the second publicly announced underwater atomic test made by American scientists and military experts. The first one boomed the waters off Bikini in 1946. It was one of an initial series of experiments made after World War II.

Joint Task Force 7, commanded by Rear Adm. C. B. Momsen, will conduct the new test. Momsen is one of the Navy's leading experts on submarine warfare.

Informed officials commented, in connection with the test, that an atomic weapon can be dropped or planted like a World War II sea mine and timed to explode under water.

These weapons, they said, could be discharged from aircraft, submarines or surface craft, American experts conceivably will need to study them from both an offensive and defensive standpoint.

The Soviet Russian navy is known to have about 375 submarines. American officials say it is possible that the Russians also have matched U.S. development of atomic devices as tactical, or small-scale, weapons.

House Passes 8.8% Pay Raise For Postal Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, risking a presidential veto, approved an average pay raise of 8.8 per cent for postal workers Monday.

Democratic leaders said the Senate would take up the bill Wednesday, and that its chances of passage were good.

But President Eisenhower has indicated he would veto any increase going beyond 7.6 per cent. Postmaster General Summerfield feels the same way.

Summerfield wrote Rep. Martin (R - Mass), the House minority leader, yesterday that he "could not, in good conscience," recommend that Eisenhower sign the legislation. He added it would create new inequities in the Post Office Department while failing to correct existing ones.

Nevertheless, the House passed the bill 328-66. It would add 179 million dollars a year to the payroll for the nation's 500,000 postal workers.

25 Hiroshima Victims Seek New Faces In US

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-five Japanese girls, for whom the atomic horror of wartime, Hiroshima never ended, arrived Monday in quest of new faces, and new lives.

They were horribly disfigured 10 years ago in history's first atomic attack.

Said one of them, English-speaking Michiko Sako: "I'm not too expectant. If I expect too much, I'll be disappointed."

However, medical science plans to try plastic surgery on the girls, hopeful of restoring their natural looks and giving them a chance at marriage and normal lives.

They ended a 6,700-mile trip aboard an Air Force plane at Mitchell Air Force Base. Their ages are from 17 to 31.

Their trip here was the brainchild of an American editor and a Japanese Methodist minister.

The girls, withdrawn from normal life because of their disfigurement, eventually became protégés of the Rev. Kiyoshi Tanimoto in Hiroshima.

Two years ago, Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, ran across them and the idea of rehabilitating them was born.

They will spend a year here, receiving free surgery and medical care at Mt. Sinai Hospital, staying in private homes.

World War II was much on their minds during the long flight from Japan, but they claimed to bear no rancor for the cruelty inflicted on them.

Toyoko Minowa, 29, one of the girls, told reporters: "I feel friendship and trust, but no hatred, toward Americans."

China Will Refuse To Quit Islands, Premier Yui Says

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Premier O. K. Yui said Monday Nationalist China would refuse to quit the offshore islands even if the United States should urge such a move.

Yui, who heads the Nationalist Cabinet under President Chiang Kai-shek, emphasized in an interview, however, that the United States had made no such request.

As for reasons why the Nationalists feel the offshore islands must be defended, Yui declared: "The defense of Quemoy and Matsu is inseparable from the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores."

The decision to defend them, Yui insisted, was final and was not subject to change through suggestion, persuasion or pressure of friendly nations.

West Decides On Big Four Meeting

Polio Vaccinations Await Double Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nationwide polio vaccination program marked today Monday while the government set up machinery for quick stage-by-stage release of "frozen" vaccine.

In nearly every area where inoculation of school children was scheduled Monday, authorities ordered a postponement in compliance with Sunday's "strong recommendation" from the head of the U. S. Public Health Service, Dr. Leonard A. Scheele.

Michigan was the chief holdout. Inoculations went ahead there with the blessing of State Health Commissioner Albert Heustis. Dr. Heustis said he saw nothing in Scheele's announcement to cast a doubt on the safety of Michigan's vaccine supply.

Scheele, too, voiced faith in all vaccine now available for use. But he urged a postponement of vaccinations until federal inspectors make on-the-spot double checks in the five vaccine-making laboratories.

Individual lots of vaccine will be cleared for immediate use as soon as the inspectors okay them and telephone their reports to Scheele, who said he hoped the first lots can be released late this week.

In other developments: 1. Chairman Magnuson (D-Wash.) of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee said an investigation will be started early next week into what he called "muddled confusion" surrounding the vaccine.

2. Dr. Jonas E. Salk, developer of the vaccine, said at Pittsburgh the Public Health Service's action "expresses its desire to do all in its power to assure the continuous flow of safe and effective vaccine."

Salk said the safety of the vaccine itself has been proved beyond question. But he said the Public Health Service "has the ultimate responsibility in matters of this kind that have gone beyond the research stage."

3. The latest Public Health Service report listed 51 confirmed cases of polio among those vaccinated. The report said in 44 cases the vaccine used was that of the California laboratory whose product has been withdrawn temporarily from use.

The Welfare Department decided against releasing the names and itineraries of the federal inspectors. It was announced previously, however, that Parke-Davis of Detroit will be the first plant visited.

Could Ease European Tensions

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower has agreed to meet with the heads of state of the Soviet Union, Britain and France in the near future on ways to ease world tensions, it was reliably reported Monday night.

Diplomatic informants said Eisenhower has agreed to a request from Britain and France for such a meeting. They said his reply would be communicated to the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at its meeting Tuesday.

Earlier British officials said a Big Four meeting at the summit on East-West problems in Europe was virtually assured. They expressed absolute confidence that Eisenhower would meet with British Prime Minister Eden, French Premier Edgar Faure and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin at some neutral spot during the summer.

A member of the U. S. delegation to the Paris foreign ministers' conference said President Eisenhower was prepared to attend "a very brief" conference of Big Four leaders—just to pave the way for a meeting of their foreign ministers which would get down to brass tacks. But this has not yet been confirmed officially.

The British said the top-level conference—which they understood U. S. Secretary of State Dulles has recommended to Eisenhower—would be held without any fixed program.

The foreign ministers then would deal in detail with such issues as German reunification, a European-wide security system and disarmament.

The Big Three decision climaxed a day of diplomatic bustle in Paris in which:

1. The 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council concurred that the United States, Britain and France should seek a meeting with the Soviets.

2. The NATO Council formally admitted newly sovereign West Germany to NATO.

3. The Big Three foreign ministers announced they would fly to Vienna to meet Saturday with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to complete the Austrian independence treaty. They probably will sign it on Sunday, ending 10 years of four-power occupation.

U.S. Vets In Moscow Think They're Promoting Friendship

MOSCOW (AP)—Nine American veterans of the 1945 Elbe River link-up with the Russians whirled around Moscow Monday—winning, dining and sightseeing. They exchanged good will toasts with Russian soldiers. One toast was: "We hope our children never again have to fight as we did."

After a three-hour luncheon at the Red Army Club, Byron L. Shiver of Lakeland, Fla., said he joined in expressing the peace sentiment with a Red Army veteran who has four children. He noted that the American visitors' families include 17 children.

William Weisel, Cincinnati engineer, said, "We think we made some real progress here today for international friendship." Shiver and Elijah R. Sams Jr. of Pineapple, N. C., agreed.

The U.S. veterans of World War II reached Moscow by plane soon after midnight for a five-day visit. Monday night they were guests at a performance of the ballet, "Swan Lake." Tuesday night they will go to an American Embassy cocktail party.

U. S. Minister Walter Wadsworth will give it in the absence of Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen.

The Americans say they are taking at face value the Russian soldiers' statements that they want peace with the United States.

The Americans spent most of today sightseeing by bus. They asked if they could visit the Kremlin, a collective farm and the Stalin auto work here. Their Soviet hosts promised they would try to work such things into the program.

Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, who heads the group, paved the way for the trip when he wrote Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin inviting Russian veterans of the Elbe meeting to come to Washington for a reunion.

Those plans went awry, but a Soviet committee of such veterans, hurriedly organized, issued a return invitation to the Americans. The Americans got the necessary travel funds through an American television show.

Editorial Comment

AWAY WE GO

We Americans are widely renowned for moving around a lot. We're great travelers, of course. But, more important, we keep changing the places where we live and work.

Just how much of this we do can be gauged from some new Census Bureau figures. They show that from April, 1953, to April, 1954, some 29 million Americans changed their homes. That's nearly a fifth of the population.

Most of this switching about seems to occur within regional limits. But about five million of the 29 million moved from one state to another. The Far West and the North Central areas gained from this migration, at the expense of the South and Northeast.

This mobility, as the sociologists like to call it, has been an American habit since frontier days. When things went bad in one spot, a man just picked up and moved on in search of better opportunities elsewhere. Usually he found them.

The habit accounts both for some of the strong points and some of the weaknesses in American life.

Experts in and outside the country mark us particularly as a people willing to change, to try something new. This makes for a flexible turn of mind, and a readiness to experiment. We aren't tied fast to ancestral traditions of the sort that too often act as a heavy drag on some of our foreign friends.

So Americans are inventive, not merely in the technical field but in organizing people to get work done. A good part of the credit must go to the mobility that periodically pulls them out of the rut of old ways of doing and thinking.

Because of their youth as a people, Americans have not always shown themselves to be the most tolerant of humans. But over the years their habit of moving about will assist the growth of tolerance. Nothing so aids understanding as getting around and seeing firsthand how other folk in other regions live.

Varied backgrounds make for richer personalities. Millions of us have lived in two or more regions of the country. Almost inevitably, we can bring to our daily living a more seasoned, balanced outlook than would otherwise be possible.

Yet there's another side. Since many of us are continuously tearing up roots and moving on, often over long distances, we don't have too much chance to build stable family, neighborhoods and community relationships.

Things always seem to be in a state of flux. This means confusion, uncertainty, problems. The problems are both big scale and personal. The specialists appear to agree that our mobility greatly contributes to America's high divorce rate, and to juvenile delinquency and major crime.

Some people do not simply move. They flit, from place to place and job to job. Opportunity always seems to beckon in a country so rich as ours. Too much moving around can have unsettling effects on many economic enterprises, not to mention the individual lives involved.

But by and large the good would appear to outweigh the bad. Many who look at the nation believe the "fluid" character of our society is our most distinguishing mark. That fluidity, up and down the economic scale and across all geographic lines, is a wellspring at which Americans can constantly renew their spirit and energy.

Children Appreciate Parents With Qualities Like These

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Children appreciate—
—parents who can say "No" with the firm cheerfulness that sees nothing peculiar in not having everything you want.
—parents who permit you to remain up for the end of your TV program without attacking their own decision by complaining, "When I was a child, I went to bed when I was told to."
—parents who encourage your joy in a new bike or a turkey drumstick without reminding you of your good fortune as though you didn't deserve it.
—parents who recommend specific action toward your class bully instead of sneering, "What kind of a sissy are you? Nobody ever pushed the around like that when I was your age!"
—parents who never ask your friends personal questions like, "Why was your mother away last weekend? Do you know how much your father got on the old car?"
—parents who do not say, "Just wait until you have real problems, son" when you're frantically trying to locate the mislaid history notebook you need for school.
—parents who ask, "Why did you disobey me?" with more interest in what you have to say than in what they have to say.
—parents who don't try to soothe you after an arithmetic failure by saying, "Next month, you'll get an A."
—parents who answer your sex questions without trying anxiously to tell you everything they know.
—parents who notice you've just finished reading that magazine article on the H-bomb "fall out"—and need help to come back to trust of the world that could consider dropping one.
—parents who can digest and discard the anxiety aroused by your teacher's complaints, just passing the facts on to you.
—parents whose punishments somehow always end with you thinking, "I see something new about my attitude to other people that I didn't see before I got this reproof, this deprivation, this spanking."
—parents who refuse to get mad at themselves because you get mad at them.
—parents who can make fun of their worries about you instead of using them to make you sorry for them.
—parents who don't harass you with warnings whenever you leave them in case you forget how much wiser and trustworthy they are than you are.
—parents who provide fun and treats for themselves as happily as they arrange them for you.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Why do so many child stars have unhappy lives as adults?

"Because they live in a make-believe world," observers Mrs. Gladys Hoene. She ought to know, because she has been teacher, friend and confessor to kid actors for 20 years. She's head of the school at Universal-International. "Child actors don't become the best wives and husbands," she observed, commenting on the high divorce rate among former moppet stars. "The world they have been brought up in is completely unreal. When they walk on a set, they start to play roles that are apart from reality. You can't expect them to have a down-to-earth attitude toward life."

"I think the one exception is Ann Blyth. Of course, it is still too early in her marriage, but I would stake everything, I had on her chances for success."

Ann spent most of her school years as a pupil of Mrs. Hoene, but she wasn't as angelic as you might expect.

"When Ann and Donald O'Connor got together, they could cut up," recalled the teacher.

How was Donald as a student?

"Very, very adequate," she said smilingly. "When he became 18, he was getting married and going into the Army so he didn't finish high school. He could have finished in a semester after he got out of the service, but I think he was embarrassed to return to school. It's too bad. I think he regrets it now."

Mrs. Hoene, a soft-spoken woman with a son and daughter of her own, came to Universal 17 years ago after a session of teaching the Our Gang kids (now TV's Dirly e ax la) at Hal Roach. She has supervised schooling for all of the studio's youngsters except Deanna Durbin, who had her own tutor.

The World Today

WASHINGTON — The frantic efforts of the free, South Vietnamese to create their own government may be the last convulsion before chaos. Efforts now to save them from eventual absorption by communism may be too late.

Still, there is a chance the United States and France can agree on a policy which will rescue South Viet Nam in Indochina from the Communists, who last year in battle forced the French to let them have North Viet Nam.

If there is such agreement, and it succeeds, it must come under the head of better late than never.

Secretary of State Dulles flies to Paris today for high-level talks with American allies. Officials say he will talk with the French in search of a unified policy toward South Viet Nam.

Ever since the Communist-led civil war against the French began in Indochina nine years ago, the United States and France had time to work out such a unified policy. There still seems to be none.

In recent years, while this country pumped in supplies costing many millions of dollars, the French lost not only the friendship of millions of Vietnamese but eventually lost in their war with the Communists.

Up until a comparatively short time before the French went down to disaster at Dien Bien Phu in 1954 the Truman and Eisenhower administrations continued to talk optimistically about the prospects for French success.

Yet to realistic readers of American newspapers in this country it must have seemed apparent the road was going to lead all downhill unless the French let the Vietnamese have a truly strong and independent government of their own.

This was not done. It still hasn't been done although the Vietnamese, after the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu, got more independence than at any time since the French took Indochina as a colony in the 19th century.

If South Viet Nam finally descends into chaos and communism there will probably be congressional investigations to learn just what American policy makers in the State Department under Presidents Truman and Eisenhower did to try to prevent it.

The colonial-minded French undoubtedly were the stumbling block and seem still to be. But a natural question arises: Why didn't the United States long ago pressure the French into letting the Vietnamese have full independence, their own army and their own government?

The answer might be the policy makers didn't want to press too hard for fear the French would balk and refuse to let West Germany regain her sovereignty and join the North Atlantic Alliance against Russia.

Rearmament of Germany has been one of this government's main goals for years. But Thursday the West Germans, with the approval of the French and others, regained their sovereignty and the door open to reararmament.

Now that that problem has been settled, perhaps a concentrated effort will be made by both this country and France to help the South Vietnamese not only establish their own government but set up their own army to defend it.

Shingles Is Usually More Uncomfortable Than Serious

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

So far as I know there have been no astonishing new developments regarding the origin of treatment of that uncomfortable disease known as shingles or herpes zoster. Nevertheless correspondence indicates that this disorder is by no means rare and deserves renewed discussion from time to time.

Herpes is probably caused by a virus and has been experimentally transferred from person to person. Also the disease has a strange relation to chicken pox which is a known virus disease. It has been noted, for example, that small epidemics of herpes may occur at the same time as chicken pox. Also there are reasons for believing that once in a while a person can develop chicken pox from contact with a patient with shingles and the other way around. There is, however, as yet no vaccine against shingles.

HERPES IS SHOWN BY a painful, acute inflammation of the skin accompanied by characteristic blisters. It involves only that part of the skin which is reached by certain nerves. It occurs on one side of the body only and is particularly frequent around the chest, just over and parallel to the ribs, and on the forehead, face and lower back and abdomen.

The blisters (which appear several days after the pain starts) begin to open and dry up in a few days and finally disappear altogether.

IN THE YOUNG and middle-aged this usually ends the matter, but in older people severe neuralgic pains often last for months. In elderly people shingles may be a long-lasting affair, causing a great deal of suffering, taxing the patience of the victim, and presenting a truly difficult problem.

Herpes often develops with or immediately after acute infections like pneumonia or meningitis; it can come in epidemics, or without any cause which can be identified.

MANY KINDS OF treatment have been used for shingles with greater or lesser degrees of success. External treatment involves the use of soothing preparations. X-ray treatments have value in some. When herpes appears on the forehead, it can move down into the eye and this can be a most serious and painful condition. The antibiotics (or some of them) may turn out to be of real value in treatment—especially if given early in the course of the disease. Other methods have their advocates but in the majority recovery occurs anyway, regardless of treatment.

In long-lasting nerve pain following shingles, nerve injection or surgery may have to be tried. Except for those who have neuralgia after an acute attack the disease is more uncomfortable than serious.

The easiest way to get a hole drilled into your patience is by stopping to talk to a bore.

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Conditions in free, southern Viet Nam have changed so rapidly from day to day that any simplification of the complex local political issues involved is impossible.

From a distance, however, several international aspects of the situation are subject to clarification. They concern the Washington and Paris background.

It is considered most fortunate that Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's personal ambassador to Viet Nam, was in Washington when Premier Ngo Dinh Diem seized power. The general's absence from his post was criticized by Rep. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) but this view is not widely held.

If General Collins had been in Saigon, Communist propaganda would have placed blame for the revolt on the United States. It would have been pictured as an American-engineered plot to overthrow the French puppet Chief of State Bao Dai.

THERE HAS BEEN a great deal of loose talk to the effect that Premier Diem is an American "puppet." Actually, he was picked by the French.

He came originally from the formerly French-dominated part of northern Viet Nam. This did not make him too popular in southern Viet Nam. But he was regarded as honest and incorruptible—rare in his country. He was Catholic and not connected with any of the native religious sects.

The fact that Diem was an intense nationalist was in this case overlooked by the French. They knew that no leader could succeed in restoring order if he were pro-French.

The premier's weaknesses were recognized by both Americans and French. He is not a good administrator. He cannot delegate authority. He cannot gather around him a team of loyal Vietnamese who could form a government strong enough to fight communism.

Premier Diem was backed by the United States as the French-picked, recognized head of government. He was given considerable coaching and backbone by General Collins.

BUT IT HAS BEEN recognized all along that Diem might resign because he was so shy, or might fail and be kicked out.

When the French complained that he would not do and must be replaced, American officials dealing with the situation said in effect, "All right, who replaces him?"

Invariably the French failed to come up with a better man. So the situation drifted from worse to bad.

The idea that the situation has been under complete United States control is also said to be incorrect. U. S. foreign aid dollars have paid the piper. They have saved what there is left of the country after the Geneva cease-fire and sellout. The French fiddlers in Paris have always called the tune.

One important factor has been that the United States has had to play along with the French to get ratification of the London and Paris agreements to rearm western Germany. The deciding question for Washington has always been that European unity was more important than Vietnamese unity.

IF THE UNITED STATES had been given a free hand in Indochina, it is believed the entire situation there might be different today.

For one thing, it is regarded as a safe speculation that Emperor Bao Dai would not have lasted as long as he has.

It is admitted that the emperor has a native following. But it is an open secret that he has been supported in luxury on the French Riviera by graft from the river pirates who control the police and the vice and gambling concessions.

The take from this source has been estimated at millions of dollars a year. It has also supported an extensive lobby in Paris. This lobby has influenced French officialdom into continuing support of Bao Dai and the old-style colonialism.

It has been recognized in Washington that this situation could not go on forever. Americans like General Collins and Lt. Gen. John Wilton O'Daniel, in charge of training the Vietnamese army, have been plugging along as best they could. They have made considerable progress.

Diem's seizure of power while General Collins was in Washington was a hopeful sign.

But in the back of everyone's mind has been full realization that if the situation in Viet Nam became intolerable, the United States might have to pull out.

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK — Leaves from an oddity almanac:

The century of the common man has also turned out to be the century of the common dog.

A thoughtful men's clothing firm has just installed a "dog bar" in its storefront—the first, so far as we know, on Fifth Avenue. As yet the bar only offers water as refreshment for thirsty wayfaring pooches, but all Manhattan is waiting to see what happens when the first gentlemanly St. Bernard shows up with a small cask of brandy under his chin.

A new form of animal crackers is now on the market to tease Rover's appetite. They are dog biscuits colored and shaped to represent different foods, such as a red heart for meat, a brown bone, a white milk bottle, an orange wedge for cheese, and a green fish. Presumably it would be in bad taste to offer Rover a cat-shaped dog biscuit. It might stir him up emotionally.

The changing homefront: a new Mrs. America will be picked this week at Ellinor Village, Fla. . . A survey of the 50,000 original entrants showed that scrubbing floors was the household chore they despised most. . . That cherry pie is replacing apple pie in popularity. . . That some 40 per cent were nominated for the title of America's top housewife by proud husbands or chivalrous mothers-in-law. . . Which brings up a point: Why doesn't someone run a contest to pick the nation's best all-around mother-in-law?

It has been another heartening year for American can openers. . . They shipped through 4 million miles of tin-coated steel, a distance equal to (let's see) more than eight round trips to the moon. . . Some 66,501 cans are opened every minute, about 788 a year in the average home. . . More than 3,000 edible and nonedible items are packed in cans today. . .

Incidentally, have you ever thought of canning your money? . . . stored in cans kept in a dark cool place, money will stay fresh indefinitely. . . Its value, however, may evaporate somewhat over a long period of time.

Things-you-ought-to-know Dept.: An insurance survey shows that starting salaries offer high-quality college graduates this year are up $10 to $15 a month over a year ago. . . A number of restaurants now print prayers on their menus, and an enterprising firm is also putting out "grace napkins" for the home embellished with prayers of thanks in the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths.

Coming from the sublime to the meticulous, have you been fretting about the actual measurements of Gina Lollobrigida? . . . the buxomy Italian actress reportedly has shared this secret only with her dressmaker. . . But word from Rome is that she finally consented to be taped, and for all who care about such matters here are the results: bust, 37 inches; waist, 21; hips 35 1/2.

The statue of liberty, whose hip and bust measurements have never been revealed to a palpitating world, has a 35 - foot waist.

A Glance INTO THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO

Samuel Lyons, 42, died at Pas-savant Hospital from injuries received when he fell from a hopper coal car on a Wabash railroad siding in Jacksonville.

Farm slaughters were required to obtain government permits. The Jacksonville employment office found jobs for 3,974 workers in a period of four years.

John T. Wild, 87, died at Murrayville.

20 YEARS AGO

Fred I. Cline assumed his duties as mayor of Beardstown.

W. M. Beekman, 1648 South Main street recalled that a storm struck Pisgah on May 9, 1880 destroying several houses, killing three persons and injuring a large number.

Henry DeFrates of Chapin, Route 4, sold a load of hogs on the East St. Louis market for $9 a hundred pounds.

Uncle Joe Page, Jerseyville publisher, observed his 83rd birthday.

50 YEARS AGO

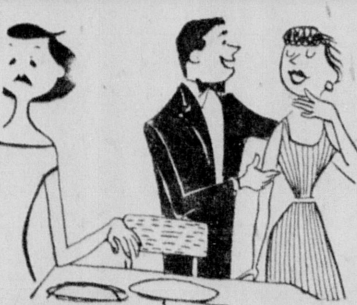

The barn on the premises of Andrew Russel in Lockwood Place was destroyed by fire. It was a fine structure and cost $1,500 when erected.

A horse driven by Joseph Correa became frightened at a Jacksonville Railway car, ran away and threw Mr. Correa from the wagon. He was badly injured.

The Waverly city council appointed James Bradley, city marshal; Charles Adwell, night watchman and John Henderson street commissioner.

C. L. Bartlett was elected president of the Jacksonville Retail Merchants association.

Manners Make Friends

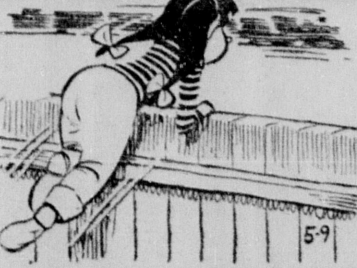

When a man finds himself with two women at a restaurant table and everyone else in the crowd is on the dance floor he should not ask one of the women to dance, but should remain with the two women until others return to the table.

Leaving a woman sitting at a table alone would be the height of rudeness.

A recent study indicated that many top business executives have the ability to read only at slow speed.

LITTLE LIZ

All men were created equal. It was the railroads that put some of them on the wrong side of the tracks.

Contrary to Popular Belief You Do Marry Your In-Laws

Not all old sayings are true. For instance, there's that old saw to the effect that "You don't marry your in-laws."

Nothing could be further than the truth. If you want your marriage to have any chance at success, you have to accept your in-laws as members of your family, and for as long as they live treat them with kindness and respect.

If you have children your in-laws won't just remain in-laws but will become grandparents—the grandparents of your children.

If you live near your in-laws you will probably see a great deal of them, and they will expect far more of you than of their friends.

If your in-laws live at a distance you will be expected to visit them and to have them visit you, and the latter won't always be at the most convenient times.

THEY INFLUENCE YOUR LIFE

And make up your mind to it, you will find many of your in-laws' ideas, opinions and attitudes toward life reflected in the man or woman you marry. So even when your in-laws are far, far away, their personalities will still be influencing your life.

So, of course, you do, in a sense, marry your in-laws. There's no successful way to keep from doing it, either.

Because the moment you decide to fight your in-laws you are fighting the man or woman you have married. You are making him or her between his parents and you, and no matter what your marriage says or pretends, that decision can never be one hundred per cent in your favor.

Always, there will be reservations, feelings of remorse, resentment that you can't see your partner's parents as he sees them, or resentment at your having made him see them as you do.

So whenever you take a man or woman for better or for worse, you are taking his parents for better or worse, too.

MOTHER'S COLD REMEDY

Remember mother's cold remedy—a hot mustard foot bath, accompanied by a glass of piping hot lemonade? Then you were bundled off to bed to sweat it out under a huge pile of quilts. Mother had no miracle drugs, but when you started sneezing, her simple cold remedy usually did the trick. Remember?

It is always a satisfaction to know that we have served in a manner which cannot be measured by any mere business standards.

THIRD FEATURE—DEATH—A "prop" coffin with a skeleton, left, becomes a grim symbol of actual deaths in the lobby of a Flushing, N.Y., movie theater which was featuring a "horror show." Nearby are bodies of two of the three persons killed when a car ran out of control and into the theater's lobby, killing the driver and two young boys. The driver, 46-year-old Louis Robitaille, apparently suffered a heart attack while at the wheel.

ing, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "Ave Maria."

On Arm Of Father

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father wearing a gown of white chantilly lace and nylon tulle over gleaming white satin. The gown was fashioned with a snug fitting bodice, a low neckline and long pointed sleeves fastened at the wrist with tiny lace buttons. The voluminous skirt of tulle extended into a cathedral train. Complimenting this gown the bride wore a veil of nylon net held in place by a Juliet cap of lace and pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Berenice Pranger, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor with Miss Alice Kirchbach and Miss Betty Osterman as bridesmaids. Miss Pranger's gown was fashioned of aqua tulle and crystals. Miss Kirchbach wore a gown of the same material, the color being maize and Miss Osterman also appeared in a pink gown of the same material and styling as the other two. All three wore matching picture hats and each carried a bouquet of carnations corresponding in color to their gowns.

The flower girl was Margaret Grueter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Grueter of this city and a niece of the bride. Bobby Carmody, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Carmody and nephew of the bride was the ring bearer.

The best man was Joe Johnson of this city, brother of the bride and the groomsmen were Lawrence Stickle Jr. and Joe Steinacher also of this city. The ushers were Ben Lake and Martin Schnetzgocke of Carrollton.

Breakfast At Tea Room
Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Mabel's Tea room for the bridal party and members of the immediate family. A reception for relatives and friends of the couple was held from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon in the Knights of Columbus hall followed by a wedding dance Saturday evening in the Knights of Columbus hall to the music of Dick Caldwell's orchestra.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Pranger left on a wedding trip and when she left Mrs. Pranger was wearing a beige linen dress with a matching duster and other accessories. Upon their return they will make their home in an apartment at the Edward Camerer home.

Mrs. Pranger is a graduate of St. John's high school class of 1954. Pranger is a graduate of St. John's high school class of 1949. He has spent several months in the armed forces serving for a time overseas. He is employed by the Empco Manufacturing Company of this city.

Mrs. Allyn Talks To Waverly Legion On U.I. Ceremony

WAVERLY — The American Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting Tuesday, May 3, at 7:30 in the Legion Building, with 32 members and two guests present.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

JUST beyond the bank, a crowd of about 40 townfolk stood gathered along the sidewalk.

"What are those jaspers looking at?" said Clegg tersely, his eyes only a second behind Jesse's.

One of the men in the crowd pointed suddenly. Jesse, following the line of the point, wound up looking at himself.

"It's me," he snapped to Clegg. "Somebody has spotted me."

The finger-pointer was gesturing and talking to the others. In turn, they were using their eyes, and not just on Jesse. The whole gang was getting a going-over.

"What'll we do, Jesse?"

"Ride straight on. Don't even look back. Make out like nothing's wrong. Pass it back to the boys."

Clegg nodded, dropped his horse back.

While the crowd continued to stare, the gang kept going—straight out and away from Mankato, Minn. And straight out and away from $55,000 in the open vault of the First National Bank, which could have been theirs.

The crowd on the sidewalk was watching a construction crew working on a building out of sight of the gang's line of approach. The man who had pointed at Jesse was only calling attention to his superb black gelding, and the following regards and admiring comments of his fellow townfolk had been directed solely at the beautiful horseflesh which carried the rest of the Missonians.

Tired out by two days of empty surveillance and convinced the James gang had never been nearer Minnesota than Adair, Iowa, the sheriff was soundly asleep in front of his office three blocks away.

It was 2 p. m. and Northfield drowsed in the after-dinner quiet. There were only three of them.

If anyone noticed them, it was because of the fine horses, two blood-bays and a lean, racebred black.

Across the square lay Division Street, Northfield's main stem of business houses. On the south-west corner of Division Street, to their right, flanked by the mercantile establishments of Lee & Hitchcock and H. Scriber & Co., stood the First National Bank of Northfield. Straight ahead lay the hardware stores of J. S. Allen and A. E. Manning. To their left was Wheeler & Blackman's Drugstore.

At Lee & Hitchcock's, they selected casual seats on the sidewalk dry-goods boxes provided for the purpose. One of them dug a bowie knife from beneath his linen duster, picked up a piece of wood, began to whittle and whistle as though he had ridden 800 miles for no other reason. The other two fell into a close-mouthed conversation, their eyes darting constantly to the street that entered the square beyond the bank.

Shortly, the smaller of the two stiffened.

"Yonder they come, Bob. Let's go."

Bob Younger looked up, saw Cole and Clegg Miller slowly joggling their horses into Division Street from the east road. He nodded swiftly, passed the word to the third man. "Look sharp, Charlie. We're moving."

The whittler put away his knife, trailed off his monotonous whistle. "I'm right behind you," said Charlie Pitts.

The three men walked quickly to the bank, entered it without looking again at the approaching horsemen.

Clegg turned his mount in at the bank's hitching rail, tied him alongside the first door. He moved to the bank door, peered in, turned and waved to his companion. Cole waved back, swung off his tall bay in midstreet, began tugging at a saddlebag.

Jesse's Big Plan was running easy as gun-oil through a smooth-bore musket. At least it was—outside the bank.

Inside the bank, the oil was hitting a few rust pits.

Hard at work, as Jesse and his two henchmen entered the building, were Joseph Lee Heywood, bookkeeper and acting cashier, A. E. Bunker, teller, and F. J. Wilcox, assistant bookkeeper. Heywood, new to his job and overanxious to please, moved from his desk to meet the strangers. His eager smile ended in a startled gasp.

"Throw up your hands," said Jesse quietly. "And don't holler out. I've got 40 men outside this bank. You're the cashier, ain't you?"

Heywood denied it.

JESSE turned to Wilcox and Bunker in turn. Each shook his head.

When he turned again to Heywood, he was beginning to blink. "I know a cashier when I see one," he said. "Open that safe or I'll blow your head off."

"I can't open it," the cashier pleaded. "It's got a timeclock on it."

They seized Heywood, Pitts slashing him across the face with his pistol barrel, Bob hurling him bodily against the vault.

"You still got a timeclock on that safe?" asked Jesse.

Heywood nodded stubbornly. Pitts moved in, shoved his gun in an inch from his cheek. The powder blast tore open Heywood's face, ripped away his right ear.

"How about it?" said Jesse.

Heywood shook his lacerated head.

"Work on him," growled Jesse to Pitts. "Come on, Bob, let's get the other two."

In fearful turn, Bunker and Wilcox had nothing to say. The bandits pistol-whipped them to their knees. The answer was the same. The safe was timeclocked. "Keep working on yours," Jesse yelled to Pitts. "We'll get an answer somewhere."

Form League For Amateur Painters To Meet May 11

A new organization has been formed in Jacksonville called the Jacksonville Area Artists League for beginning and amateur artists and to benefit all adults wishing to try a hand in painting.

The first meeting of the League, to which the general public is cordially invited, will be from 7 to 10 p. m. Wednesday evening, May 11, at the Strawn Art Gallery on West College avenue at Dunlap Court.

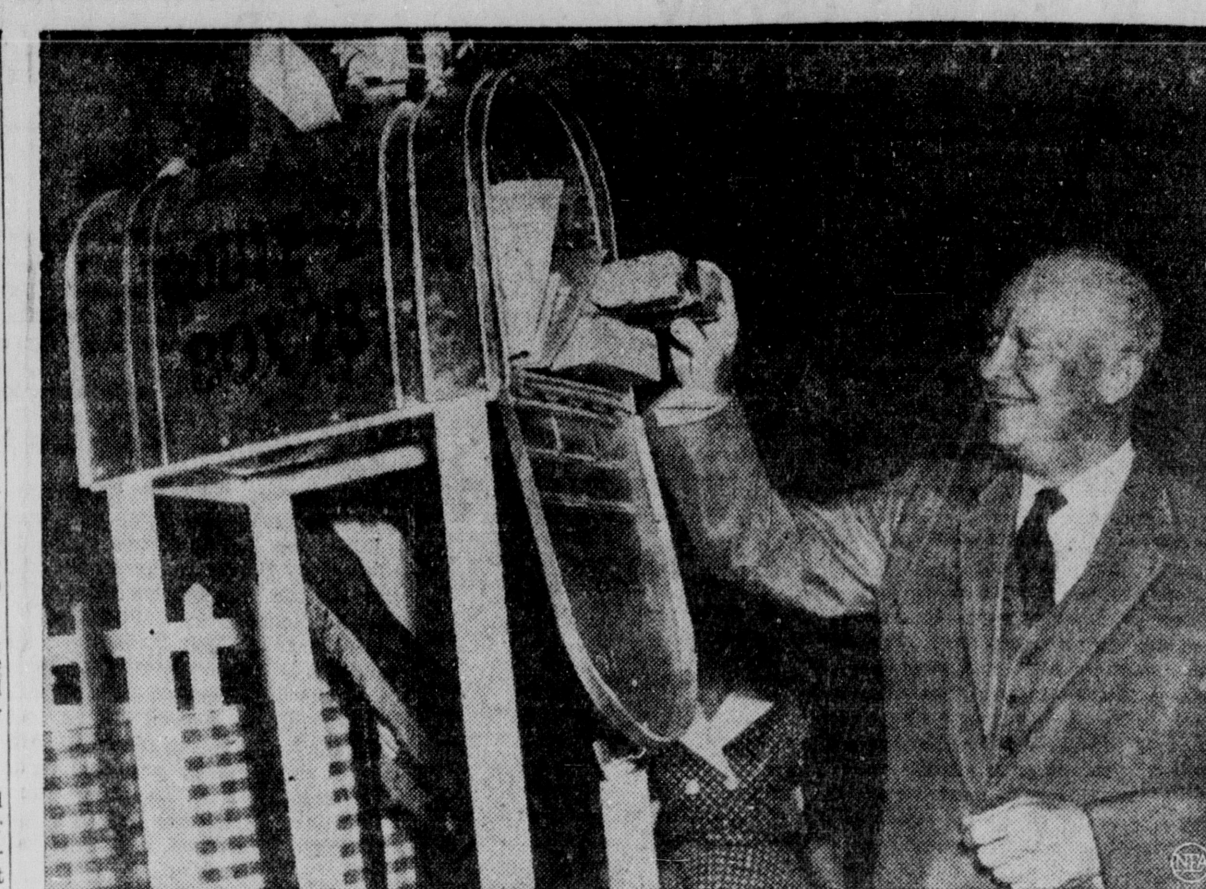

At the first session held of interested members, following a preliminary business session Prof. Sidman from MacMurray College Art department will give the first of a series of lectures and class instruction on color, its use, application, mixing, etc. Since oils are the easiest medium for beginning artists, it was decided to devote the first year to oil painting.

Also planned are outdoor sketching trips, plus instruction in portrait, landscape and still life. Dues for the League will be twenty-five dollars for the year with the initial fee of ten dollars payable at the first meeting.

Those interested are asked to phone Elaine Miller at 2450 or Margaret Flynn at 1309W. Be sure and remember to take oil colors, canvas and easel to the first meeting May 11.

Truck Didn't Run Over Glasses; $10 For Cancer Fund

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—This is the story of the truck that did not run over the eye glasses and how the cancer fund became enriched by $10.

The spectacles belonged to H. J. Schafly of Mount Vernon, Ill., uncle of David McNeill and a recent Santa Fe visitor.

On one day of his stay, Schafly was on a downtown shopping trip and it was not until he returned to his hotel room that he missed his glasses. He retraced his steps, without any luck.

He theorized that he might have put his glasses on the turtleback while loading his bundles into the back of the car. And he remembered the man in the pickup truck who had driven right into his parking place after had vacated it.

Schafly put his note on the pickup's windshield: "If you found a pair of tortoise shell eye glasses where your truck is parked, return to room 420, La Foncia, and receive reward."

Back at his hotel a short time later, he was called by the desk clerk and handed his glasses and this message: "If you will leave your reward in the form of a check to the cancer fund, it will be ample reward for me."

It was signed by Howard M. Rosenthal, a Santa Fe attorney.

Schafly, delighted, made out a $10 check for the cancer fund before leaving Santa Fe for home.

Says Adlai Will Have To Work For 1956 Nomination

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The head of the Democratic National Committee says Adlai Stevenson will have to campaign actively if he wants the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Paul Butler, national party chairman, said Sunday in an interview that Stevenson will have to announce himself prior to the 1956 convention in Chicago.

Butler said Stevenson, former Illinois governor, will not be drafted by the convention in 1956 as he had been in 1952.

Asked if he thought Stevenson would be the nominee again, Butler said: "I do not know what Mr. Stevenson's plans are at this time but I do know that if he does want the nomination he is going to have to declare himself a candidate and be active in his campaign for it."

Butler was in Kansas City to attend a birthday dinner for former President Harry S. Truman.

Chief's Car First To Travel Safety Lane

Chief Ike Flynn set a good example for thousands of Jacksonville car owners Monday morning when he drove his own car through Safety Lane, on West Morgan street adjacent to the new high school gym. The chief's automobile passed the various tests and received a sticker denoting its safety.

Behind the chief's car came a long line of others. Sixty or more had been tested at 1 p. m. when a heavy shower drenched the men working at Safety Lane, calling a temporary halt to operations.

Taking time out for lunch, the officers, mechanics, and others in charge of Safety Lane went back to their duties.

The testing service, free to all passenger car owners, will continue each day this week from 9:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Several thousand passenger cars are expected to receive the tests for wheel alignment, brakes, headlights, horn, and other safety features.

The Jacksonville police department is sponsoring Safety Lane in cooperation with the National Safety Council and several other agencies. Officers Wilbur Stafford and Charles Runkel are co-chairmen of the activities.

"Every driver who goes through Safety Lane has an equal opportunity to receive a valuable gift," Officer Stafford said Monday. "These include three TV electric clocks, two 6 months movie passes, and several automobile accessories."

Gifts from Safety Lane will be awarded at the Illinois Theater Saturday night. It will not be necessary for those who receive the gifts to be there.

Lt. Thomas Moran of the police bombing and arson squad said a wire mesh screen over the rear door glass had been pushed inward and broken. The outside of the door was scorched, indicating it was open at the time of the explosion.

Cause of the explosion was undetermined. There was no injury.

MAN HELD FOR QUIZ ON ASSAULTS FOUND HANGED BY NECKTIE

CHICAGO (AP)—A man police said was being held for questioning in connection with assaults on women was found hanged early today.

Police identified the man as Warren McDonald, 32. They said he hanged himself by looping his belt and necktie around the bars in his cell.

McDonald had been arrested Sunday, police said, because he resembled the description of a man who recently had attacked three West Side women. One of the women, a 63-year-old school teacher, died shortly after she was assaulted.

Ag Department Predicts Record '55 Meat Supply

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today another record meat supply this year.

It estimated this year's supply at 3 to 4 per cent above 1954 for the fourth yearly increase in a row. Pork will account for most of the increase.

In the January-April period about 17 per cent more hogs were slaughtered than last year and for the remainder of 1955 the slaughter will average as large or a little larger than last year, the department said.

The department said cattle production trends are virtually at a standstill. It said 10 per cent more cows were slaughtered in the January-March period than a year earlier, suggesting the possibility that a moderate decline in the cattle inventory might be starting. But cattle feeding is at a record volume at present.

"Under influence of large marketings, prices of fed cattle will average lower the rest of the spring than in February to April," the department said. "A seasonal strengthening is likely later in the summer. Prices of cattle off grass will likely decline seasonally during the summer."

BALTIMORE, Md. (P) — Is there a lie detector handy?

And if so, will the Cleveland Indians kindly take the test?

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Kansas City Athletics says that's the only way he can prove his contention that the Indians had help from the U.S. Army in winning a doubleheader Sunday.

Lou claims the Indians used an Army telescope to steal his catcher's signs throughout the first game and part of the second. The A's lost both games 9-6 and 2-1.

In the second game Boudreau insisted that an Army telescope mounted on a tripod near the Cleveland bullpen be evacuated in a jeep.

The telescope, jeep and other Army equipment were part of equipment used in army display and left beyond the centerfield barrier in the sprawling Cleveland Municipal Stadium during the games.

Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Indians, said Boudreau's claim was "preposterous." He pointed out that one team or another has been asserting almost yearly that the Tribe uses a telescope to steal signals.

The Boston Red Sox, he added, made the contention against Boudreau in 1948 when he was managing the Indians.

"We are not employing the Army Reserve Corps," Greenberg said. The manager added that the Indians had been able to get "only two or three hits" against A's pitcher Art Ceccarelli up to the time Boudreau made his contention.

His suspicions were aroused, he says, early in the first game when Cloyd Boyer was on the mound.

The A's were convinced the Indians were being tipped on the catcher's signals.

When Jim Hegan, the Cleveland catcher, laid into a low curve ball Boudreau went into action.

He had his coaches check some openings in the scoreboard. After snooping around, Boudreau says, they reported one of the Cleveland relief pitchers had stationed himself by the telescope and was transmitting Kansas City signs to another reliever, Hal Newhouser, who was sprawled on the bench in the bullpen.

When Newhouser lazily spread his legs it meant a fast ball was being pitched, Boudreau said. When he crossed his legs a curve was coming.

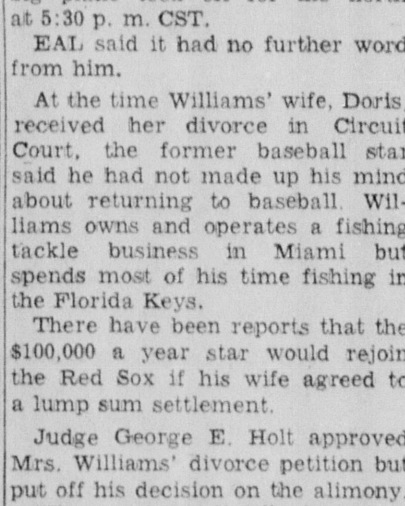

"That telescope was so powerful you could see the white on the fingers of the catcher," Spook Jacobs, the A's second baseman, said.

In the second game Boudreau halted the proceedings until one of the umpires had the telescope driven away in a jeep.

Of course, we can't prove anything," Boudreau said. "If you accused them they wouldn't admit it. About all we could do is use a lie detector."

Cockell's Manager Wants To Clarify Boxing Rules

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (P) — While a six-vy-eight challenger Don Cockell sparred eight rounds Monday, the manager of the British champion sought to clarify the rules governing the 15-round title show with World Champion Rocky Marciano a week hence.

The manager, John Simpson, wrote the California State Athletic Commission, asking a hearing to clear up such points as rough fighting, fouls and how many are permitted, liquids and materials to be used for cuts, and the right of the chief second to stop the fight for cuts only.

Simpson asked that E. J. Walters of the British Boxing Board of Control and two British newsmen be allowed to attend the meeting. Simpson said this would "greatly reduce any possibility of any adverse criticism appearing in our home press after the contest if your interpretation of your rules are carried out faithfully by both boxers and officials."

Cockell again made a punching bag of one sparring partner, Grant Butcher, belting him through the ropes. Cockell will rest Tuesday box six rounds Wednesday, four Thursday, Friday and Saturday then go to San Francisco Monday for the weigh-in and the fight there at Kezar Stadium.

Rain Postpones Yesterday's Baseball Tilts

Rain played havoc with local baseball scene yesterday afternoon as the baseball games involving ISD and Jacksonville High were postponed.

The Tigers were scheduled to meet Bluffs on the ISD field while the Crimsons were to play host to Mt. Sterling.

ISD coach "Potsy" Clark announced last night there is a possibility the Bluffs game could be played at Bluffs today if the ISD field is too wet for the Perry-ISD game scheduled for 3:30 today.

JHS mentor Bob Kraushaar announced late last night he is doubtful if the Mt. Sterling-Jacksonville game will be played at all. Mt. Sterling is unable to play the rain-ed out game today and the Jacks have a game with Lanphier Thursday before going into Friday's District play. Therefore, the game will probably be canceled.

Two Games Wednesday

Wednesday's baseball action includes a pair of encounters. The Illinois College Blueboys travel to Greenville for a PCC game after more than a week's layoff. The other local team in action is the Routh Rockets who go to Perry for a PMBC conference contest.

Cause Of Johnson's Collapse In Friday's Fight Still A Mystery

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (P) — The cause of Harold Johnson's sudden collapse in last Friday's nationally televised fight continued Monday to be boxing's No. 1 mystery.

Was he drugged?

Or did Julio Mederos, credited with a second round technical knockout, tag the husky Johnson with a paralyzing punch?

Or was Johnson suffering from a pre-fight physical ailment that was not revealed?

Or is there another reason?

The answer to these questions remained locked in the continuing investigations of doctors, chemists, policemen and officials of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. A full report was promised not later than Tuesday.

Meantime, Johnson remained under police guard at Hahnemann Hospital where a multitude of tests, from the brain down, were completed. Doctors said Johnson was in good shape physically and mentally.

A well posted source in the hospital disclosed Saturday that first tests of Johnson's blood, urine, spinal fluid and stomach showed no traces of any common drugs, such as phenobarbital.

Klein insisted "we cannot say definitely yet, one way or another, that Johnson was under the influence of a drug when he entered the ring Friday night."

After the fight was abruptly ended Friday night after the bell sounded for the third round, both Dr. Alfred Ayella, commission physician, and Klein hinted Johnson may have been drugged.

The 26-year-old Philadelphia Negro, No. 1 light heavyweight title contender, insisted an orange given him by a stranger hours before the fight was responsible for his dazed condition.

Pieces of the orange found in Johnson's dressing room was given to city chemists. The result of this analysis, too, is still unknown.

Philadelphia police have intensified the search for the man who allegedly gave the orange to the fighter.

Ringsiders and TV viewers said Johnson was wobbling even before the fight began, that he tripped as he entered the ring, and that he fell clumsily in the second round without a blow being struck.

At weigh-in time, 10 hours before the fight, Johnson was described in good physical condition. Two hours after his collapse he was bright and alert in his hospital room.

Cubs Cut 6, Reduce Roster To Limit Of 25

CHICAGO (P) — The Chicago Cubs Monday got rid of five pitchers and a catcher, cutting their roster to the required limit of 25.

Included was veteran pitcher Bubba Church, 30, who was released outright to the Los Angeles farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Catcher Elvin Tappe was optioned to Beaumont in the Texas League. Pitcher Darius Hillman was optioned to Los Angeles. Pitcher Vicente Amor went to Havana of the International League. He had been drafted from Oklahoma City, but Los Angeles failed his contract and optioned him to Havana.

Pitcher Bob Thorpe was optioned to Des Moines of the Western League. Catcher Jim Fanning was optioned to Los Angeles.

The Cubs actually have 27 men on their roster, but two of them, catcher Harry Chitt and pitcher Al Lary, are returned servicemen and are not counted.

Feller's Strikeout Record Challenged By Score And Turley

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (P) — Bob Feller's major league strikeout record, unchallenged for eight years, faces its stiffest test this season in the strong arms of Cleveland teammate Herb Score and Bob Turley of the New York Yankees.

Score, the left-handed rookie who set an American Assn. strikeout record of 330 in 1954, is ahead of Feller's 1946 pace, when he fanned 348 American League batters in 372 1-3 innings. Turley is just a bit behind Feller's rate.

In his first five starts in 1946, Feller fanned 48 batters in 43 innings. Score, in five games covering 41 innings, has struck out 50.

Turley has whiffed 46 in 45 innings.

In his record-breaking season, Feller won 26 games and dropped

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

"He's the best athlete I've ever coached," was the answer we got when we asked ISD's athletic director Jim Spink how he felt about Jack Rampley. Rampley, second at ISD for something like 10 years prior to the time Spink took over four years ago, is the first athlete in the history of the school to win 16 major letters in the four year high school period.

Both Spink and baseball coach "Potsy" Clark uttered the following, "We'll sure miss him" and coach Spink probably made the understatement of the year when at the banquet Saturday evening while presenting a football letter to freshman Paul Mehring he said, "You've got a big assignment next year—fill Rampley's shoes."

Rampley, who is currently batting .481 for the Tigers, is probably at his best in football gear. The Bowen, Illinois hard running back earned quite a reputation last year. He was picked on the first teams for three Deaf publications, "Prat," "Silent Worker" and "National Observer" gave him first team honors while the Chicago American selected him on the first team for little all-state honors, the first time in history an ISD performer rated this high award.

While rating four letters in one year is quite a feat it has and will continue to be accomplished by quite a few athletes. However, the unusual thing about Rampley's four year career is he earned the four letters four straight years. Going from one sport into another sometimes results in injuries and injuries can stop a performer from lettering in a sport. But this didn't happen to Rampley.

There are probably several athletes at JHS who have the ability to earn four letters but can't find time to play both baseball and track in the spring. The last Crimson we know of to earn four awards was Dick Barnes. The same is true at Routh but track is not included in their sports program.

We understand Dick Lewis and Max Roeger have received questionnaires to fill out for the Wigwam grid battle at Memphis, Tennessee, August 26. The two local seniors were among those selected as candidates for the high school classic. If they are accepted, they will report on the 18th for practice sessions. Here's hoping both make it.

Stan Spotts was a visitor in town yesterday. The MOV League umpire was on his way from Dubuque, Iowa to Decatur where he was scheduled to work last night. However, rain called a halt to last night's contest so he and his partner, Bill Spencer, stayed over an extra day. Stan has worked eight games so far and likes it fine.

Montgomery Ward was an outstanding feature of trading. Sewell Avery resigned as chairman of the board in a surprise move in the fight for control of the company being waged by Louis E. Wolfson.

Trading in the stock was halted on the New York Stock Exchange when the announcement was made, and it wasn't able to reopen for nearly an hour. It began again on a block of 16,000 shares up 4 1/2 at 80, hit a high of 81 1/2 and closed at 80 with a total of 48,300 shares traded.

Steels were unchanged to higher, motors were mostly lower, rubbers higher, aircrafts mixed, distillers higher, radio-televisions higher, coppers mixed, chemicals mixed, railroads lower, oils higher, airlines mostly lower, and motion pictures higher.

The Associated Press held unchanged at $164.30 with the industrial component up 40 cents, railroads down 50 cents, and utilities unchanged.

Volume came to only 2,090,000 shares, lowest since late in March. There were 2,225,000 shares traded Friday.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on volume of 720,000 shares as compared with 760,000 shares traded Friday.

ALL GRAINS FIRM EXCEPT WHEAT

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO (AP)—All grains except new crop wheat futures were firm on the Board of Trade Monday.

May wheat climbed almost two cents a bushel but the deferred deliveries dipped on reports of rain in the Southwest.

Wheat closed 3/4 lower to 1 1/4 higher, corn 1/2 to 1 higher, oats 1/2 to 3/4 up, rye 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher, soybeans 3/4 to 3 3/4 higher and lard 3 cents a hundred pounds higher to 5 cents lower.

Corn was firm despite receipts of 264 cars, of which about 124 were owned by the government.

Strength in soybeans reflected light receipts of 28 cars and firmness in soybean oil and meal. An Illinois elevator said producers seem more interested in planting the new crop than in selling their 1954 crop, much of which is held on the farm.

Trading began Monday in new soybean futures. The new September delivery closed at $24.01, 1/4 higher than the old September delivery. The new November contract closed at $23.81, about 1/2 higher than the old November contract.

BRITAIN'S SECRET WEAPON

NORTH WEALD, England (AP)—Britain's latest secret weapon to protect its jet planes leaked out Monday. It's mothballs.

Royal Air Force officials at the big fighter base here said the camouflaged capsules were used as a last, desperate measure to scare off the flocks of birds which menaced fast-flying planes landing and taking off.

The mothballs were spread over a 500-square-yard area in the middle of the airfield. The vapor fumes irritated the birds' lungs and after a few days they abandoned the airfield.

State Legislature

Toll Roads

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Evan Howell said Monday the National Turnpike Assn. which he heads was not set up "for the private gain of anyone."

Howell, who also is chairman of the Illinois Toll Road Commission, told an Illinois House investigating committee that the national association has been "totally dead and inactive" since it was criticized by turnpike officials at a meeting in Miami, Fla., March 11, 1954.

The turnpike association, organized by Howell Feb. 10, 1954, shortly after his state appointment solicited $1,000 memberships from bonding houses, contractors and others interested in toll road construction.

Howell said the association collected $4,800 including a check for $1,250 from United States Steel Corp. which was never cashed. He said the association has a bank balance of $247 after paying expenses for printing, office space in Washington and the salary of its executive secretary, Royce Powell of Washington.

Howell said the turnpike association has caused him "headache and embarrassment" from the start and that he should have resigned from it "the day the blast hit the organization in Florida."

No memberships in the organization were solicited or accepted after the Florida meeting, he said.

Howell also said he had never seen the list of persons and firms solicited for memberships.

Rep. Arthur Sprague (R-La-Grange), chief sponsor of the resolution authorizing the investigation, asked Howell: "If you thought the turnpike association was such a good idea at the start, why did you drop it like a hot cake when someone took a blast at you?"

"I still think the original idea was a good thing," Howell replied. Howell gave a lengthy explanation of defense of the Toll Road Act, passed by the 1953 Legislature, and commission operations under it.

The commission, he said, "tried to proceed promptly and expeditiously" in developing a program for construction of 193 miles of northern Illinois turnpikes to be financed from a 400 million dollar bond issue.

He said the feasibility, engineering and traffic studies obtained as a basis for planning were the "most complete" assembled by any similar agency, and that experts appraised the Illinois program as the "soundest" of any state.

The Western ministers were elated by the addition of West Germany's 50 million people to the Atlantic Alliance. This marked a major defeat for Soviet foreign policy. The Russians have alternately threatened and cajoled the Germans to stay out of an armed alliance with the West.

Hope To Achieve Austrian Freedom By This Weekend

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The last major obstacle to the conclusion of a treaty of independence for Austria was reported out of the way Monday — and the nation may get its long-awaited freedom this weekend.

Informed sources said Western delegates to a five-nation ambassadors' conference ironing out the text of the draft treaty presented an acceptable compromise on the hotly debated future of the Austrian oilfields.

Western delegates still expressed hope that a compromise would be reached to surmount a last-minute hitch which developed today.

This concerns the future of former German property held by the Soviets in Austria. The Russians were reported to have refused to include in the treaty the extensive concessions promised to Austria when Austrian leaders went to Moscow recently.

Conference sources said the Soviets now insist that these concessions be made the subject of a separate agreement between the U.S.S.R. and Austria, while the Western ambassadors say they should be incorporated in the treaty to be signed by all five governments.

"EVERYTHING'S PRETTY MUCH THE SAME"—This isn't a case of double exposure, but the camera sure made it look that way. Two sets twins met for a brief chat on the steps of Main Hall at MacMurray College. The Hendrickson twins, Janey and Judy, Freshman students from Katonah, N. Y. (Right) greet Janet and Jane Johnston, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, as they visited the college campus last week end. The Iowa twins will enter MacMurray next fall.

G. A. Rexroat Scores Highest In Road-E-O; Don Maxwell Second

G. A. Rexroat of rural route No. 3, Jacksonville, a student at Jacksonville High school, managed to outpoint a highly competitive field of entrants to win the first place trophy at the Jacksonville Jaycee sponsored Teen-Age Road-E-O Sunday at the Jacksonville Municipal Airport.

Rexroat scored a total of 407 points out of a possible 500 points. The second place trophy was awarded to Don Maxwell of 28 Sunset Drive, also a Jacksonville High student. He scored 403 points.

Third place winner, Ken Carpenter of Franklin, scored 393 points.

The other contestants ranked closely behind the three winners. Final scores were determined from the results of a written test which required knowledge of rules of the road, and from the results of the driving skill test. The driving skill test consisted of four parts.

A good-sized crowd of on-lookers found it very interesting watching, and the contestants found it not as easy as it looked.

Dodge Rubber Balls
The first of the four driving skill tests involved the forward and backward driving between a series of rubber balls. The object being to drive forward and backward, hitting as few of the rubber balls off of their mounts as possible. The second test, the serpentine route, consisted of driving both forward and backward between barrels without going outside boundary lines.

The third phase was driving between posts guarding a small opening, and then coming to a stop at an imaginary line between two of the posts.

The last of the four driving skill tests consisted of the parking of the car in a small space marked off by posts.

Other Contestants
Besides the three winners were Robert Austiff, Franklin; John Avery, 921 Grove; Dean Baldwin, R. R. No. 3; John Bergschneider, Franklin; Jack Conder, 814 W. College; Ivan Dunn, 1127 W. Lafayette; Bruce Heaton, 1239 S. East; Reggie Huddleston, 917 N. Diamond; Ken Jording, 3 Jones Place; Nelson Spaenower, R. R. No. 3; Tom Spradlin, R. R. No. 3; Ralph Wohlers, R. R. No. 4; and Marland Brakslig, 306 Elm.

There were a number of entrants who had signed up but failed to appear.

Walter Hamilton of John Ellis Motors, and Joe Sommers, last year's second place winner, pleased the crowd with well executed exhibitions of their driving skill by executing trial runs of the driving skill part of the Road-E-O.

Besides a large number of local Jaycees to handle the routine matters of the meet, eight judges and scorers quite familiar with driving habits of the public gave of their free time in order to help promote safer driving.

The judges were, from the Illinois Driver's License Inspector's Office: Randall Killebrew (Scott and Pike counties), Carroll Ryan (Morgan County), and District Supervisor Dean Miller. The State Police patrol was represented by Clyde Vasconcellos and Paul Zimmerman, both of District No. 9, Jacksonville City Police in attendance were Cloyd Wilson and Ernest Smith. Staley Keller represented the Morgan County Sheriff's Office.

Use Eight New Cars
Eight, brand new automobiles were available for the driving skill part of the test. These cars were furnished by Lukeman Motor Company, E. W. Brown, Frank Corrington, John Ellis and Morgan County Motors. In accordance with the rules, Chevrolets, Plymouths and Fords were used.

Co-Chairmen James Coultas and Buck Reeve were highly pleased with the high results of driving skill (both written and oral) shown by the contestants.

Coultas said, "Our only regret is that more contestants did not avail themselves of the opportunity to enter the contest. According to Reeve, 'The turn-out was very satisfactory, considering the fact that we had the celebration of Mother's Day to contend with. However, we are sure that the mother's of all contestants will be extra proud of the fine showing their teen-agers youngsters made today.'"

Churchwomen Council Elects Mrs. W. F. Bailey

Mrs. W. F. Bailey of the First Presbyterian church was elected president of the Jacksonville Council of Church Women at its annual May Fellowship Day in Northminster Presbyterian church. She succeeds Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach of the Congregational church, who has ably served as president for the past two years.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Bailey are: vice president, Mrs. R. M. Dale of McCabe Baptist church who succeeds Mrs. J. L. Bunch of First Presbyterian church, and secretary Mrs. Farrell Patterson of First Baptist church who succeeds Mrs. Russell Vermer of Central Christian church.

Officers serve two year terms. Those elected in 1954 who have another year to serve are: second vice president, Mrs. Carroll Day of Northminster Presbyterian church, and treasurer, Mrs. Byron Lewis of Centenary Methodist church.

Mrs. R. M. Harris of Trinity Episcopal church was program chairman and introduced Mayor Hoagland who congratulated the church women in Jacksonville on their interest in community affairs. He stated that an informed and aroused citizenry always assures intelligent appraisal and consequent improvement of social problems in any city. He said the mayor's office and his administration extends close cooperation to the United Church Women in finding problems and solving them.

On the subject of youth problems, the mayor complimented the work done in the recreational field by the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Youth Center for its year round program, and especially its summer play grounds and swimming lessons. Over and beyond this area of youth activity there is the problem of children who get into trouble—delinquent children. First offenders are treated leniently, families are interviewed and many cooperate.

Housing A Problem
Housing causes great concern, and Jacksonville has some substandard dwellings. Housing is a very complex problem, the mayor explained. A Public Housing projects was started in 1939. An area was to be cleared and an apartment building was planned, using government financing and unemployed labor. The war came with its subsequent shortage of construction materials. During the period of inaction, strong opposition developed in certain areas to building an apartment-like structure. When materials were again available after the war, construction here was limited to single family units, using FHA loans for financing. Housing laws have recently been changed and Jacksonville could take advantage of the present laws to finance a public housing multiple unit for low-income families.

Jacksonville has a statute requiring every house on a street having sewers and water mains to connect with them. This provision has not been enforced until recently. In the mid-thirties, many property owners could not financially afford it. Then came the war with its shortage of materials, and more recently the water shortage. At present the council is trying to enforce it. To date 97 homes have been so improved. Two more will have to be taken to court to force the landlord to so improve his property.

Following Mayor Hoagland's talk, women of the hostess church served punch and cookies from a beautifully decorated table. Mrs. George Corcoran and Mrs. Paul DeFries were co-chairmen of the serving committee.

The active pallbearers were Don Douglass, Roland Godbey, Joseph Grojean, John Harmon, Robert Kaiser, Albert McNeely, J. Alden Ryan and Ralph F. Withee.

The staff of the Jacksonville Country Club attended in a body. Boy Scout Troop No. 107, committee members of which Mr. Kinnett was chairman also attended in a body and assisted with the many floral pieces.

Interment was made in Memorial Lawn cemetery.
